

MORRIS FOR MAYOR

How do you create affordable housing for the masses? Are we achieving affordable housing in North Vancouver through rampant development?

I not only believe the current development frenzy fails to achieve the goal of more affordable housing, I believe it's making the affordability situation worse.

I believe that destroying our existing rental stock, without compelling developers to replace that rental stock, at a price point that displaced renters can afford, and in unit sizes which are livable, is tantamount to 'rent-eviction'. This is morally wrong!

Renters may not be listed on the City's tax roll, but they still make an equally valuable contribution to the City's finances, and our local economy.

We must stop viewing renters as visitors. They deserve the same degree of consideration, protection and respect that we afford homeowners.
