

MORRIS FOR MAYOR

Did you know that the City of North Vancouver has an 'Election Signage Policy'?

Did you know that the policy states, amongst other things, that: "Election signs are not permitted on City streets, vacant City-owned lots, parks, and boulevards except as hereinafter provided..."

Did you know that section 2.6 of the Election Signage Policy states "...Signs must be more than 5 feet from the curb."

Did you also know that the incumbent Mayor has purchased advertising in all the key bicycle topper advertising spaces throughout the City, all of which are located within 5 feet of the curb, and on City owned streets? How's that possible you ask? Good question. Apparently the City's Chief Election Officer granted a waiver to the Mayor's campaign.

Do you think the Mayor should be granted the right to breach the 'Election Signage Policy'? I don't.
