

I Support Kerry Morris for Mayor of North Vancouver City

I am encouraged that someone with a good solid business background is running for the position of Mayor of the City of North Vancouver.

Recent councils have been heavily weighted with councillors that are more concerned with social policy issues than with the fundamental responsibilities of municipal government. This has led to a significant increase in cost to the taxpayers in the City and the misdirection of revenue to issues that do not benefit the majority of the taxpayers. This situation needs to be corrected. Also, developments to increase our density are occurring at a magnitude that will change the liveability of our city forever.

I know that Kerry has taken the time and effort to analyse the issues and understands their significance to the viability of our City. Also, I know that he has the determination and will to engage in these interests to the benefit of our citizens and maintain an ethically clear vision, not compromised by receiving campaign donations from developers or unions. I applaud his position on these points.

Being born and raised in the community Kerry possesses the long term perspective that will ensure that our future is one that all of our citizens will embrace. His commitment to take the right road, coupled with his compassion and skills, make him a great candidate to be our next Mayor.
